Protest Rally Rescheduled

Due to a prior commitment of the San Francisco Parks commission to a scheduled peace rally in Union Square, the proposed Young Republican protest rally of U.S. brutalities in Katanga will be rescheduled from tomorrow to Saturday, Jan. 20, at 10:30 a.m. in the S.F. Union Square, according to Ron Birchard, Y.R. executive board member.

The rally is being organized by the Bay Area Student Committee for Katanga. The Y.R.'s voted to support and participate in the rally at their Tuesday night meeting.

Students wishing to attend the rally should meet at Seventh and San Carlos on Saturday, Jan. 20, at 9 o'clock, according to Birchard.

A faculty member from the University of California will be a featured speaker at the rally, stated Birchard. "Approximately 200 to 300 people are expected and we will have radio-television-press coverage," he added.

The Y.R.'s passed an unanimous resolution in December condemning the U.N. for its "brutal and undemocratic action in its assault on the nation of Katanga."

"The Katangan people want to be independent while cooperating with the Congolese central government," commented Birchard. "The U.N. talks about self-determination for nations, but does not act accordingly."

'Lament' Wins Kaucher Award

By MICKEY MINTON

Luis Miguel Valdez's presentation of "Lament for the Death of a Bullfighter" by Federico Garcia Lorca was judged winner of the Dorothy Kaucher Oral Interpretation contest yesterday.

The $50 traditional award was presented to Valdez by Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, professor emerita of speech, following a decision reached by judges Frederick Loadwick, assistant professor of music, Dr. Vio Powell and Dr. Esther Shepard, professor emerita, English department.

Other contestants were Linda Berry, Carolyn Reed Dunn, Susan Evers, Dennis Fimple, Russell Holcomb, Nancie Niederholzer, and Elizabeth Sauer.

BEGAN WITH $150

The Dorothy Kaucher award, in its 10th year, got its start with a $150 anonymous gift used for an oral interpretation award by the department, according to the contest chairman Mrs. Noreen LaBarge Mitchell, assistant professor of speech.

The donor indicated that the gift was presented in honor of Dr. Kaucher's outstanding contributions to the oral interpretation section of the speech department, Mrs. Mitchell reported.

Before Dr. Kaucher announced the winner yesterday she told the overflow audience that she always hoped that someday when she went to her mail box instead of finding a PG&E bill she would find a $50,000 check from a former student who had become "fabulously wealthy" as the results of the principles she had taught him.

$1000 CHECK

With the money, Dr. Kaucher asserted that she would like to present a $1000 check to the winners of the Oral Interpretation contest each time, instead of $50.

The winner, a 21-year-old senior from San Jose, is majoring in English. Following the contest he revealed that he had translated the entire reading from the original Spanish himself. Valdez read part of his selection in Spanish.

Valdez said that he had spent time in Mexico with his grandparents and was interested in writing about the Mexican people in Central California.

After graduation Valdez plans to teach English in Mexico then return to central California and "get involved in things." Valdez remarked that the "Mexican people need representatives."

"I want to be a playwright of the Mexican people and put them into literature," Valdez declared.

Architectural Competition Suggested

A resolution suggesting that Student Council request action permitting free competition between private and state architects was submitted to the council by Ron Birchard, senior representative, Wednesday.

The resolution, which was tabled for one week and given to Val Lowen, sophomore representative, requested action by the California legislature, State College board of trustees, Chancellor Buell Gallagher or Pres. John T. Wahlquist on the matter.

The subject was taken to council, according to the resolution, because the structural design of several state colleges, notably San Jose State, has been criticized by leading architects and legislators.

It stated the principal designer of the criticized buildings is the California department of architecture.

Vets' Vouchers Due During Finals Week

January Korean veterans' attendance vouchers are to be signed the week of finals, John Montgomery, registrar, announced.

January's check, usually arriving around Feb. 20, will be delayed several weeks because the V.A. will not accept January vouchers until after the spring semester registration, Montgomery said.

This is due to a V.A. decision to avoid over-payments, accordingly, the January checks will not be mailed until after Feb. 26, the registrar indicated.

Returning spring semester students will be paid from Jan. 1 through 31 and receive payment for the full month of February, Montgomery said.

If a student is not returning, he will receive payment through Feb. 2. This will be indicated on the attendance voucher for January by the Korean Vets clerk.

SJS Dept. Scheduled For Check

The final word on accreditation of SJS' Engineering division will be in the hands of a team of six engineering and industrial authorities Monday and Tuesday when it inspects the division as representatives of the Engineers' Council for Professional Development.

The visiting team will inspect the Civil Engineering and Electrical Engineering departments of the division for re-accreditation. These departments were first accredited by ECPD in 1959.

Initial accreditation of the division as a whole will be considered after its remaining departments are inspected by the ECPD representatives. Included are the Chemical, Industrial, Mechanical and Metallurgical Engineering departments.

DEPARTMENTS UNIQUE

SJS is currently the only state college in California with accredited departments within its Engineering division, according to Norman O. Gunderson, dean of the Engineering division.

The only other accredited engineering programs in California are offered by the University of California at Los Angeles, University of Southern California, University of California at Berkeley and the California Institute of Technology.

Accreditation is expected to give SJS engineering graduates advantages in job placement and opportunities for membership in professional organizations.

The ECPD committee will review the division's faculty, administration, facilities and methods of instruction, curriculum and records of the division's graduates.

INDIVIDUAL REPORTS

Members of the visiting team will send individual reports of observations, facts and recommendations for action to the education and accreditation committee of ECPD. The latter committee reviews the reports and makes recommendations to the ECPD council which makes the final decision, of whether or not the departments receive accreditation.

Pre-Reg Deadline

Today is the final day of pre-registration for majors in natural science and pre-professional science and science-teaching majors and minors. Pre-medical and pre-dental majors are included.

Students majoring in these fields must have conferred with their advisers on next semester's class program to be eligible to pre-register in S242, 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Davis Proposes Subsidizing Of 12 SJS Student Positions

A proposal that 12 positions, most of them ASB offices, be subsidized was made by Brent Davis, ASB president, at Wednesday's Student Council meeting.

The proposal was referred to a special committee composed of the finance and athletic committees for consideration and report next week.

"A subsidy would tend to bring about a more businesslike attitude and help to do away with some of the perennial lethargy," he said.

"I personally feel that this will improve the effectiveness of my administration," he added.

He emphasized, however, that "I am open to anyone who might wish to prove how we can get better results without remunerations."

At the present time, the office of ASB president is the only one receiving a subsidy in the form of a $1000 scholarship paid in monthly amounts of $100 each.

The following positions are the ones that Davis recommended be subsidized:

Vice president ... $50 per month
Exec. secretary $30 per month
Attorney general $30 per month
Treasurer ... $30 per month

COUNT UEBELOHE-ZABERNSEE, played by Robert Browning (center), is once again captivated by the lovely Vanessa, portrayed by Donna Rae Stinecipher, while her husband Morales, Peter Nyberg, watches the action from behind.

"The Marriage of Mr. Mississippi" begins its 6-day run tonight at 8:15 in the College Theater.

Final Production

SJS 'Marriage' Play To Make Debut Tonight

By MARIE LOPEZ

The Speech and Drama department's last production of the fall semester, "The Marriage of Mr. Mississippi," opens tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the College theater.

The experimental play, written by contemporary Swiss dramatist Friedrich Durrenmatt, will be repeated tomorrow night and runs Wednesday through Saturday.

Directed by Dr. Jack H. Neeson, the presentation will feature an original musical score, written especially for the play by Prof. Stanley Hollingsworth of the music department.

Almost as complicated as the musical score is the sound which was worked up by Mark Thayer and James Wood. Choreography was created by Margaret Lawler of the physical education department.

TECHNICAL DIFFICULTY

The staging of "Mr. Mississippi" has proven especially difficult from the technical angle. Flash-back scenes will be portrayed through pantomimes behind a screen process in an effort to achieve a more meaningful interpretation.

J. Wendell Johnson has designed the setting and Kenneth R. Dorst is in charge of lighting. Bernice Prisk has designed the costumes, both in realistic and nonrealistic style.

The play is an unusual comedy about three men who wanted to change the world or save it, or both, according to Dr. Neeson. The play has several meanings, the main one of which is that fanatics, no matter what they focus on, destroy themselves and their world.

The main cast includes Peter Nyberg as Morales, Donna Rae Stinecipher as Vanessa, Robert Browning as Count Uebelone and Gerald Proost as Rene St. Claude.

Ronald Magnuson portrays Diego, minister of justice, and Lane Hecker, Lucretia, the maid. The citizens committee consists of Martha Johns, Louise Picchi and Carole Warren.

The ensemble of pantomime players are Kathleen Robinson, Gina Wyckoff, Andre Neu, H. Donald Funk, Garry Safford, George Snow, Eugene Grayson and Lynn Baranco. Ladies of the ballet include Sharon Cressio, Barbara Garner and Sherri Eaten.

Tickets for "The Marriage of Mr. Mississippi" are now on sale in the College Theater box office daily from 1 to 5 p.m. General admission is $1 and 50 cents for students.

Indust. Relations Head Taking Hawaii Survey

An internal survey of Hawaii's Department of Social Services is currently being conducted by the head of SJS' Industrial Relations department, Dr. Edward P. Shaw, professor of business, Dr. Shaw is in Hawaii on a year's leave of absence.

Hawaii's Gov. William F. Quinn

... conducts Hawaii survey

ordered the survey last October in an effort to get to the bottom of criticisms aimed at the department after its director fired an island prison warden.

Several of the state's legislative leaders demanded an investigation of "low morale conditions" in the department's public welfare division after the warden's ouster.

Dr. Shaw was employed to make a survey of the department in an effort to clear up the controversy.

The professor outlined his plans for the survey to social service employees as a "commitment level" review which would determine their working level. He estimated the study would require from 30-45 days.

While on the islands, Dr. Shaw is also teaching in the University of Hawaii's business and economics department. He was recommended for the department survey by college officials after they learned he had just completed a survey of management and personnel practices.

Tshombe Charges Congolese Troops With 1000 Deaths

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe today charged that central Congolese troops had massacred 1000 civilians at Kongolo in northwestern Katanga.

He also accused the Central Congolese soldiers of raping "hundreds" of women in the area near the juncture of Kivu and Kasai provinces.

Tshombe made the charges at a news conference. He said many of the women were murdered after being assaulted by the troops.

Fighting was still going on in Kongolo between Katangese gendarmes and the Congolese troops, he said.

Kongolo, an important north Katanga rail junction, was captured earlier this month by Central Congolese forces.

Tshombe said the leading chief in the area, Moni Kabwe, had been "mutilated" by the soldiers from Leopoldville. He said Kabwe had an arm cut off and was now hospitalized in Baudouinville.

SDX To Be Host For 4 Delegations

A bid by the San Jose State College chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism society, to act as host to delegations from four western states at a regional SDX conference in May has been accepted, the members learned at a meeting Wednesday night.

The announcement was made by Ray Spangler, publisher of the Redwood City Tribune and director of Region 11 of Sigma Delta Chi, which covers California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii.

The date for the conference has been set for May 12 with sessions being conducted in the Journalism & Advertising department's new quarters and other locations on the campus.

In conjunction with the conference will be the annual Sigma Delta Chi "Deadline Dinner," which will feature a prominent speaker in the communications field and the announcement of SDX's "Faculty Man of the Year."

SJS Prof Featured On KNTV

Thomas Coke, assistant professor of speech, will be featured in "What Do You Hear," this week's program on "Perspective," college television program.

Professor Coke will discuss means of identifying hearing problems in children at pre-school and public school levels, screening tests, employment of audiometers, and the Galvanic Skin Response, a machine that tests certain response to stimuli by means of prior conditioning.

Aiding the professor in the program will be SJS students: Robert Silvera, Janice Callender, Charles Creighton and Wendell Ross, audiometrist with Santa Clara county schools.

The program will be on KNTV, channel 11, tomorrow at 12 noon. Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, assistant professor of English continues her interviews with foreign students this week on "Showcase-SJS," the student-directed radio program.

Music from past performances of the music department and a roundup of news concerning the college and community will also be presented on the program which is aired Sunday at 9:30 p.m., on station KLOK.

Deadline for Photos

Today is the final day for make-up photos for seniors and Greeks who have not had their pictures taken for the 1962 La Torre.

Pictures will be taken in the College Union, 315 S. Ninth st., according to Mike Sanders, La Torre business manager.

Movie 'Autobiography' Of Hemingway Shot

(Editor's Note: UPI Hollywood writer Rick Du Brow went to Mellen, Wis., where a movie company is filming a motion picture based on the early years of author Ernest Hemingway. In two dispatches, of which this is the first, Du Brow tells of the picture and its impact on this area.)

By RICK DU BROW
United Press Hollywood Writer
MELLEN, Wis. (UPI)—Hollywood, which offended Ernest Hemingway in his lifetime with its adaptations of his works, is going all out to pay him posthumous tribute in a movie many will consider an autobiography of his early years.

The picture, being shot here and in Italy, is entitled "Adventures of a Young Man," and is based on 10 of Hemingway's "Nick Adams" short stories, which were inspired by the writer's experiences in growing up. And to give the film added authority, producer Jerry Wald has hired as chief scripter A. E. Hotchner, Hemingway's personal friend and adapter for television.

The Nick Adams stories were written by Hemingway in Paris in the early 1920s and derived from his adventures in his home town of Oak Park, Ill., and in Italy, where he drove a Red Cross ambulance in World War I. The only major stipulation Hemingway insisted on before granting rights to the movie, according to Hotchner, "is that there would be no attempt to make these stories autobiographical." Officials at 20th Century-Fox have complied by not publicizing the film as Hemingway's personal story.

Said Hotchner: "Hemingway said Nick Adams bore the same relationship to him that Huck Finn did to Mark Twain. He was very definite in saying it was not the story of his boyhood."

"Over the years, of course, critics have said it is a verbatim account of what he did. And it is true that his early life paralleled the stories. He did live in a small town; he did summer at a lake near here; his father was a doctor; his mother a clubwoman; he did run away from home, and he did go to Italy to join the army. But he felt that by fictionalizing it, it was no longer autobiography."

Hotchner verified that Hemingway was upset by movie-town treatment of his stories. He said:

"The only movie he tolerated was 'The Killers.' The rest he thought were terrible junk. In 'The Snows of Kilimanjaro,' for instance they threw in a little of 'For Whom the Bell Tolls,' and the hero walked off into the sunset. They ought to have had a fairly good movie from 'To Have and Have Not,' but they used hardly a word of it as I remember. And as for 'The Sun Also Rises,' Hemingway felt that any movie in which Errol Flynn emerges as the best character is in trouble."

Why, then, did Hemingway agree to "Adventures of a Young Man?"

"Several years ago," said Hotchner, "I took five of the Adams stories and put them together for a CBS-TV show called 'Seven Lively Arts.' Hemingway didn't see them at first, but later he asked to, and he said, 'You got as close to the boy as I did.' I considered it a fine compliment. He thought this story needed the movies, the wide camera. And he often mentioned the telecast disposed him favorably to it."

The movie is being directed by Martin Ritt, who guided "The Long, Hot Summer." Richard Beymer, 22, who scored big in the film version of "West Side Story," plays the "young man." Others in the cast are Paul Newman, Susan Strasberg, Dan Dailley, Diane Baker, Arthur Kennedy, Ricardo Montalban, Jessica Tandy, Eli Wallach, Juano Hernandez and Fred Clark.

Hotchner said Beymer was chosen after Hemingway's death. He said the writer rarely discussed actors for his stories because he had such a low opinion of them."

Thrust and Parry

'Reward' Letter Not Unanimous

Editor:

Just for the record, the humorous letter which was printed in yesterday's Thrust and Parry, was not by "the residents of Markham hall." The letter was turned in with 74 signatures of men who reside in Markham hall. Whether or not the remaining 126 men agree with what the letter said, or not, the phrase "... and the residents of Markham hall" insinuates that all of the residents were in agreement with the letter, which is not true.

This is a small matter, true, but as a resident assistant in Markham hall, I heard many students decline to sign the letter because they chose to be more careful about where, and what on, they placed their signatures. This is their right, and so the statement "... and the residents of Markham hall" printed in Thrust and Parry is in error.

Phillip May
ASB 5336

Editor's Note: The Daily extends its apologies. The letter should have been signed "by 74 residents of Markham hall" not the published "and the residents of Markham hall." The mistake was an editorial error.

Letter Distinguished By 'Misquoting'

Editor:

The 486-word letter of Efraim Gugel, published on the eve of the winter recess, distinguished itself by misquoting a campus guest-speaker and by failing to refute any of the statements actually made by him.

1) Gugel endeavors to "refute" the speaker's statements that, when the Palestine problem was created in 1917, over 90 per cent of the population of Palestine were Arabs, and that the country was an Arab country. His "refutation" consists of a catalogue of past "rulers of Palestine." Does the population of a country lose its status and its rights simply by virtue of the occupation of that country by a foreign power in consequence of a military invasion?

2) Gugel attributes to Professor Sayegh the statement that "Jews came and stole the land of Palestine from the Arabs." The tape-recording of the lecture shows this to be a gross misrepresentation of the lecturer's words. What Dr. Sayegh said was that the Zionists never legally owned more than a negligible fraction of Palestine. According to the source which Gugel himself cites (Survey of Palestine) Jews owned 650,000 dunums in 1920, and acquired 938,365 more in the following years (page 243); the total land area of Palestine was 26,320,000 dunums (page 103); therefore, at the beginning of the mandate Jews owned 2 1/2 per cent and, at the end, six per cent of the land of Palestine.

The United Nations has affirmed that the property of the Arab refugees in those portions of Palestine now occupied by Israel amounts to 80 per cent (U.N. Document A/1985, page 11.)

3) The armies of the Arab state entered Palestine on May 15, 1948. Before that date, Zionists had already occupied not only the areas granted to Israel under the partition plan, but also parts of the areas reserved for the "Arab State" of Palestine, including such cities as Jaffa and Acre.

4) Dr. Sayegh's statement that the right of the Arab refugees to repatriation has been acknowledged by the U.N., is proved by the fact that the General Assembly—which first recognized that right in Resolution 194 (III) of Dec. 11, 1948—has formally reaffirmed this principle 38 times since.

5) Dr. Sayegh analyzed the different attitudes, among Israelis and Arabs, regarding a future settlement. Within each group, he distinguished between the "position of extreme nationalists" and the "official position of the governments." The Arab governments, he said, consider the existing United Nations resolutions on Palestine "an acceptable basis for a permanent settlement." The reader can verify this statement by examining the following texts, all of which were unanimously signed by official representatives of the Arab governments: The Lausanne Protocol of May 1949; the Bandung resolution of April 1955; the Addis Ababa resolution of June 1960; the Casablanca resolution of January 1961 and the Belgrade resolution of September 1961.

Brown Raps Radicals, Extremism Danger

CLAREMONT (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday warned a group of college students of the dangers of extremism and said America's first need is for "a return to the traditional spirit of controversy."

"It has never been American to conform or be intimidated—or yield in silence," Brown told students and faculty of the Associated Colleges of Claremont.

He said our democratic system "will remain great so long as you remember that education and freedom rank higher than guns as a line of America's defense."

"Have the courage to lift your voices and express your convictions," Brown urged. "If we will only have the courage of those convictions, we will have nothing to fear."

Brown also asked the students to become and remain active in politics all your lives. Speak out—and don't let anybody scare you.

The governor noted that "... is a great deal of frustration in our land today—and it speaks with a voice of hysteria."

Sociologist's Talk Slated for Today

Dr. Alvin W. Gouldner, visiting sociologist at Stanford's Center for Advanced Studies and chairman of the Sociology department at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., will speak on the uses of the psychoanalytic approach in sociological research at 3:30 this afternoon in CH150.

Dr. James Blackwell, assistant professor of sociology, invites interested students and faculty members to attend the lecture.

At an initiation dinner this evening for Alpha Kappa Delta, national honor society in sociology, Dr. Gouldner will discuss the uses of history in sociological research.

Dr. Gouldner is author of "Patterns of Industrial Bureaucracy," "Wildcat Strike," "Studies in Leadership" and other books on the subject of bureaucracy.

 ART IS A FOUR-LETTER WORD?
 We're back at the old stand again, 300 South Tenth. Some of the brethren are mightily concerned about Henry Miller's Tropic of Cancer, the main problem being, "Is it art, and how can you tell?" Our guest, Dr. Roland Lee of the English Dept., will try to show us how to decide. We close with a mild four-letter word:

Student Query

McCunn Defends Pro-Birch Stand

CONCORD (UPI) — Educator Drummond McCunn met with 600 junior college students Wednesday to explain his public stand in support of the John Birch society.

McCunn, superintendent of the Contra Costa county junior college system, said he was for any organization "which exposed communism."

He told the students in a 90-minute meeting called at their request that he had read the "blue book" of the society, but was not a member and had not attended any of the society's meetings.

Earlier, the county board of governors received two unsigned resolutions, allegedly from the faculties of Contra Costa junior college and Diablo junior college — both of which McCunn administrators — demanding that the educator be fired.

Dec. 6, at a news conference in connection with a meeting of the California Association of School Administrators in San Francisco, McCunn commended the John Birch society for its anti-Communist stand.

He told the students Wednesday that "I emphasized I spoke as an individual and not in any official capacity, and in no way do I apologize for my stand in support of the American way of life."

Ralph Rutherford, president of the Associated Men Students, told McCunn he thought the educator's statements were out of order "because education and politics are not to be mingled."

When asked if he supported other anti-Communist organizations such as the American Nazi party, McCunn retorted, "That is where I have no choice—no comment."

"I don't want to comment until I can document my comment," he said.

SJS Varsity Matmen To Grapple San Diego

San Jose State's varsity wrestlers see their first action of the new year tonight when they tangle with San Diego state college at 7:30 p.m. in the mat room of the men's gymnasium.

Coach Hugh Mumby's frosh grapplers meet Travis Air Force base at 4 p.m., also in the Spartan mat room. The match, originally scheduled for yesterday, was postponed until today.

Warren King will compete for the varsity in the 147-lb. class in place of the injured Leroy Stewart. Stewart is out for the season due to recent aggravation of an old neck injury.

Others competing for SJS are David Armstrong, 123 lbs.; Frank Paoni, 130 lbs.; Bob Lopez, 137 lbs.; and Cliff Olson, 157 lbs.

Also competing are Fred Yrueta or Jack Proctor in the 167-lb. class, Ron Ruscigno, 177 lbs., and George Hewitt, heavyweight.

The Spartans defeated San Diego state in a dual meet last season.

Better Football Physicals Urged

CHICAGO (UPI)—A physician has urged more rigid physical examinations of football players to curb deaths on the gridiron.

Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Los Angeles state college told the college football coaches' convention Wednesday that 22 per cent of football fatalities due to heart conditions over the past 11 years could have been diagnosed through proper examination.

He said a study of fatality reports this year indicated a letdown in requirements for pre-season medical examinations. He listed, as part of nine recommendations, a requirement for thorough examination, including electrocardiogram, before the first practice session.

Eastwood, a member of the coaches committee on injuries and fatalities since 1931, said that 20 players died this year as a direct result of football.

Pennsylvania Athletic Commission Declares 'Hands-Off' Liston Policy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission will pursue a hands-off policy, briefly at least, in the Sonny Liston-George Katz-Jack Nilon managerial triangle, attorney Al Klein said yesterday.

Klein, the Philadelphia member of the three-man commission, stressed, however, that if heavy-weight challenger Liston, manager Katz and would-be manager Nilon cannot come to some amicable agreement, then the commission will decide whether to intercede.

Klein explained the situation as follows:

—Nilon, of Chester, Pa., a wealthy concessionaire, has indicated to the commission that he wants to manage Liston and arrange for a title fight with champion Floyd Patterson.

—Liston, of Philadelphia, has indicated to the commission that he cannot get along with manager Katz, without giving any concrete reason for the situation.

—Katz, of Philadelphia, has indicated to the commission that he and Liston have had disagreements, also without giving any concrete reason for them.

“Neither Liston nor Katz have made any charges against each other or any defamatory statements,” Klein emphasized. “It seems they just can't get along. Accordingly, we have made clear to Nilon that the commission still recognizes Katz's binding contract, which is on file with us. And there is no reason why the commission should take the initiative in dissolving it.”

It seems necessary (or maybe just unavoidable) to sketch out a visionary finish to the currently young West Coast Athletic conference basketball derby.

Just about everyone is picking Santa Clara's Broncos to win the WCCAC title, and the same is predicted here. Coach Bob Feerick, in his 12th year at Santa Clara, has great shooters, substantial height and a fine all-around star in sophomore Bob Garibaldi. The Broncos could be a mite slow afoot, but they never seem to be in a hurry to score anyway.

If Santa Clara can manage to knock off Loyola in Los Angeles this weekend, they could go the rest of the way and lose only one game . . . perhaps to San Jose on March 10 in the civic auditorium. For second place, we have to go with Loyola's Lions. The Lion club can conceivably lose only two of the 12 conference games . . . both to Santa Clara.

The Loyolans are led again this season by 6-6 center Ed Bento, a senior from Hilo, Hawaii. Bento averaged 19 per game last year in the notoriously low-scoring WCCAC.

Also back from last year's fine Loyola team is 6-4 guard Jerry Grote. All-conference as a junior, Grote is a great floor leader and a tremendous passer.

Next is San Jose State. We see Stu Inman's Spartans, minus center Joe Braun after this semester, losing to Loyola twice and splitting with the Broncos. San Jose might lose to St. Mary's in Moraga on March 2, but the spirits are arguing amongst themselves on that one.

It's quite obvious that San Jose is a vastly improved team this season. Already Inman's cagers have won 10 and lost 4, while last season's overall mark was 11-14.

Some railbirds can be heard protesting that SJS will begin to crumble the instant Braun exchanges his basketball uniform for his cap and gown come February. But his replacement, 6-8 soph Harry Edwards, while not a sensational ballplayer, is a steady one and improves with every game. But Edwards might be just a little overzealous on defense and pick up a few too many unnecessary fouls.

The only other outfit that might break into this top three is St. Mary's. They're an unpredictable team, though. They nosed out the Spartans 48-46 in the WCCAC tourney during the Christmas holidays, but collapsed when they met San Jose last Monday in the auditorium, 51-37. If St. Mary's has a couple more games like that against weaker teams in the conference, they'll be out of luck.

But that's the way it should wind up; unless St. Mary's starts playing consistent basketball. University of San Francisco, University of the Pacific and Pepperdine should knock each other silly for fifth, sixth and seventh places.

Mismatched Intramural Contests To Cause Rescheduling of Independent Cage Leagues

Following another series of one-sided intramural basketball games, Intramurals Director Dan Unruh plans to make some changes in the A, B, C and D independent league set-ups.

Stronger teams have recommended that they be entered in C and D leagues, and vice versa, Unruh remarked, and there has been a wide margin of victory in a majority of the contests. The switches will be made during the semester break, he stated.

Slated for tonight's fraternity action will be six contests, two each at 6:30, 7:30, and 8:30.

In the preliminary contests, DSP will challenge the Sig Eps and PiKA will take on ATO. An hour later, Sigma Pi and Lambda Chi will square off, along with the Phi Sigs and Sigma Nu.

DU and SAE will play in the final time slot, along with Sigma Chi and Theta Xi.

In C league action Wednesday night, Lambda Delta Sigma obliterated the Air Force ROTC No. 2 team 61-32; Anonymous dumped Winged Feet 45-35; and the Beavers nipped the Ding Bats 41-34.

Gregory's blasted Seagrams V in a D league contest 55-26; the Saints toppled ROTC No. 2, 54-14; the Fountain Ramp 69'ers crushed the Markham Ripples 59-20; ??? shellacked the Moulder "Gestapo" 40-19; and the Pink Tub buried the Dinky Dunkers 34-20.

High scorer for the evening was Gregory's Pat Murphy, who netted 14 field goals and two free throws for 30 points. His offensive effort is the season's best to date.

Charlie Martinez tallied 11 for Gregory's and Danny Sigimoto dumped in eight for Seagram's V.

Max Chancellor hit for 20 points and Lonnie Neville for 13 in leading Lambda Delta Sigma over the airmen. Jeff Haney garnered 16 for the Air Force.

Bill Franzmann and Sigfried Haase led Anonymous to its win over the Winged Feet, scoring 19 and 14 markers, respectively. Dave Kiff led the losers' scoring.

Glen Miller, with 14 digits, and Gary Brenneman, with 10, led the Beavers past the Ding Bats in another C league tilt, but Dave Laven of the losers took the game's scoring honors with a 20-point effort.

Fountain Hall's 69'ers, led by Roger Lehman's 19 points and Dave Roffman's 1, posted an easy win over the Markham Ripples.

The Saints also broke the half-century mark in smushing ROTC No. 2, 54-14. Ken Crowther led all scorers with 14 tallies. Dennis Shepherd scored 10 for the Saints and Ken Shafer netted eight for the ROTC.

AFL Team Owners End Fruitful Meeting

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—American Football league club owners headed for home yesterday after a fruitful annual meeting which ended Wednesday.

The conclave ended on a note of optimism as Commissioner Joe Foss was extended a new five-year contract and an estimated pay hike of $5000 a year.

Foss interpreted the move as a vote of confidence.

"When the league gives me a contract it's a non-cut contract," Foss said.

"Confidence in the Oakland franchise was also demonstrated," he continued, "when Oakland's co-owner Wayne Valley was elected president of the league."

An expected conflict between Foss and New York Titan owner Harry Wismer failed to materialize and both parties seemed in accord as the meeting ended.

The following rule changes came out of the productive meeting:

—The player limit during the regular season was raised from 33 to 36.

—The stadium clock was made the official timepiece.

—The face guard rule was altered to make it defensive holding if a man is tackled by grabbing his face mask.

—Training camps were allowed to begin eight weeks before the start of the season instead of the previous seven.

—The player limit for the training period was decreased from 65 to 60.

—The waiver rule now allows a man on waivers to be claimed after 16 days instead of the previous 30 days.

Foss said the differences among the owners had been ironed out.

The 6-foot, 11-inch Bellamy out-scored Russell, 35-14, and out-rebounded him, 30-18, to lead the Chicago Packers to a 103-90 victory over Boston Wednesday night. The win snapped the Packers' seven-game losing streak and handed the Celtics' their seventh loss in 39 games.

Bellamy's 12 rebounds in the second period sparked a surge that enabled the Packers to break away from a 19-19 tie to a 48-37 halftime lead. The Packers remained in the lead the rest of the way despite a game-total of 21 points by Bob Cousy.

The Syracuse Nationals defeated the St. Louis Hawks, 134-122, and the Philadelphia Warriors beat the Detroit Pistons, 113-110, in other games.

Hal Greer scored 36 points and Dave Gambee added 30, each a personal home court high, to lead the Nationals, who scored their seventh victory in 10 games since Dolph Schayes was sidelined. The Warriors clinched their triumph over the Pistons on Tom Meschery's field goal with 16 seconds left. Wilt Chamberlain had 39 points for the Warriors.

BATES TRIES ONE

REBOUND BATTLE—San Jose State forward Dennis Bates gets off a short jump shot under the basket in last Monday's San Jose-St. Mary's battle at the Civic auditorium. The Spartans won their second straight game in WCAC action, 51-37. Bates will be in the starting lineup tonight when the local cagers invade Stockton for a battle with the UOP Tigers. The game will be played in the Stockton Civic Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

SJS Meets UOP Tonight In Bid for 3-0 WCAC Mark

By FRED RAGLAND

Coach Stu Inman's Spartan cagers go after their third straight West Coast Athletic Conference victory tonight when they tangle with University of Pacific in Stockton's civic auditorium at 8 p.m.

The league-leading SJS five won't be expecting to find a push-over in the Tigers, in spite of Pacific's unimpressive 5-8 season record and 0-1 WCAC mark.

UOP gave the Spartans quite a scare in the consolation finals of the WCAC tournament last month, forcing SJS to go into overtime to gain a narrow 49-47 victory.

Coach Inman said yesterday he expects "one heck of a game" with the Tigers. He added, however, that San Jose will be stronger "personnel-wise" than it was in the first UOP game.

Both center Joe Braun and forward Bill Robertson, the leading scorers for SJS this season, were out of action in that one, forcing Inman to dip into his reserves for starters.

Braun will be playing his last game for SJS tonight. His eligibility runs out with tonight's game, the last of the semester for the Spartans.

Inman plans to start the same five tonight that started in the Spartans' 51-37 win over St. Mary's Monday . . . guards Gary Gresham and Bill Yonge, center Braun and forwards Rolf Dahl and Dennis Bates.

Guard Vance Barnes and Robertson will not start but will be ready if needed.

An SJS win coupled with some upsets down in Los Angeles tonight and tomorrow night would greatly enhance Spartan chances for a WCAC title.

Santa Clara meets Pepperdine and University of San Francisco takes on Loyola tonight in the Los Angeles Sports Arena. Santa Clara and USF trade opponents tomorrow night.

Santa Clara currently is 1-0 in conference play while defending champion Loyola has not yet seen action in WCAC play.

UOP is led by Ken Stanley, 6-3 senior guard, who led the league in scoring last year with a 21.9 average. Stanley scored 21 points in the Tigers' last outing, a 75-65 loss to St. Mary's Saturday.

Other UOP players likely to see action tonight are Richard Davey, 6-3 guard, John Nichols, 6-6 forward, and Leo Middleton, 6-7 sophomore center.

SJS Frosh Five Battles Pacific Yearlings Tonight

San Jose State's frosh hoopsters will try to get back in the win column tonight when they battle the University of Pacific frosh at 6:15 p.m. in Stockton prior to a varsity clash between the two schools.

The Spartan frosh, which has lost its last three contests, will have to face its UOP counterpart without star center Joe Knox. Knox suffered a knee dislocation in Monday's 48-41 loss to St. Mary's.

Coach Dan Glines' Spartababes will look to Ron Labetch and Rick Wentworth to carry the scoring load in Knox's absence. Labetch tallied 18 against St. Mary's.

NCAA Penalizes Four Members

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association Council yesterday placed New Mexico state university, the University of Utah, Humboldt state college and Whitworth college on probation for violation of the NCAA code.

New Mexico state drew the stiffest penalty—three years probation. The other schools were placed on probation for one year. All probationary periods were effective immediately.

New Mexico state was cited for three infractions of the NCAA code, and one questionable practice.

In addition to the three-year probation, the council ruled that New Mexico state would not be eligible to participate in any television program subject to the NCAA administration and control.

Utah was placed on probation for providing excessive financial assistance to two athletes—a football player who was revealed to have received $26.30 over the financial limit during one year, and a basketball player who was granted a special 30-day loan of $150 which was not repaid 18 months after maturity. The basketball player also was provided parttime employment and, the council said, received pay for work not done.

Utah also was cited for providing transportation for the same basketball player from New York City to Salt Lake City to assure he would enroll at the university.

During the period of probation, the council said, the Utah basketball team would be ineligible to participate in the NCAA basketball championships and "those invitation and like basketball events which cooperate with the NCAA in its enforcement program."

Humboldt state, Arcata, Calif., and Whitworth, Spokane, Wash., were cited for taking part in post-season football games which were not sanctioned by the NCAA. In one of the games, on Dec. 3, 1960, Humboldt state and Whitworth opposed each other at Eureka, Calif.

Armistice Long Way Off—President Kennedy

Pres. Kennedy Tells Of Missile Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's State of the Union message yesterday indicated the administration has boosted from 1300 to approximately 1600 its goal for land and sea-based strategic missiles to be deployed by 1965.

The President said his new budget requests, to be presented to congress Jan. 18, will ask for "nearly 300 additional Polaris and Minuteman missiles."

The additional missiles will form part of the military strength which the President said must be maintained "so long as fanaticism and fear brood over the affairs of men."

Funds have already been appropriated for a total of 1300 missiles, including 464 Polaris submarine-based types and 600 solid-fueled Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles. The first of the Minuteman missiles are to be war-ready in mid-1962. Others in the 1300 already funded are Atlas and Titan ICBMs.

Defense officials refused to go beyond the President's words. But he apparently was referring to one additional wing of Minutemen, which would be 150 more missiles and would bring the total number of wings to five.

His phrase "nearly 300 additional" indicated he may ask for funds for nine more nuclear-powered Polaris submarines, that would add 144 missiles.

The Navy already has received funds for 29 Polaris submarines, each carrying 16 missiles, to be completed by 1965. The Navy's ultimate goal calls for 45 Polaris subs.

How Congress Reacted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's State of the Union proposals yesterday drew warm praise from congressional Democrats and immediate opposition from Republicans.

His request for standby authority to cut income taxes to combat a recession was quickly attacked by the GOP.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the proposal "appears as a request for congress to surrender its authority in this field and would seem to be a movement in the direction of centralized executive power."

The Illinois senator said of the over-all message that it "is like a Sears Roebuck catalogue with the old prices marked up."

He said the speech "can hardly be called a great message nor can it be called a bad one." Dirksen concluded: "One thing is certain and that is that these requests will make the New Frontier blaze with controversy."

Speaking for the Democrats was Senate Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.). He said, "It is a statement that has the authentic earmark of greatness. It points the way, first, to what must be done at home for the progress of all our citizens. On that base, it plots rational leadership for the advance of freedom and peace in the world."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the speech "is a prescription of strength and responsibility for world leadership."

Humphrey, who opposed Kennedy in the presidential primaries in 1960, particularly welcomed Kennedy's recommendations for domestic welfare legislation. He said the speech was a "message of optimism and a renewed call to action and work."

The senior GOP member of the senate finance committee, Sen. John J. Williams (Del.), announced immediately he would oppose standby tax cutting powers for Kennedy.

"I am not in favor of congress delegating its authority to change tax rates to the President," Williams said. He said such power would give the President a powerful political weapon to use during campaign years.

Sen. John G. Tower (R-Tex.) also objected to the tax proposal which would "require a constitutional amendment."

He said the message followed what he called the New Frontier trend "to spend more and more and make government bigger and bigger."

Congress Debates JFK's Popularity

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats and Republicans drew their battle lines in congress yesterday and immediately began squabbling over whether President Kennedy's popularity will affect the fate of his legislative program.

During Wednesday's opening-day amenities, senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) pointed to public opinion polls showing Kennedy is popular with 79 per cent of the people.

This, said Mansfield, means "the climate for progressive legislation is good."

But conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said, "I don't think his popularity will rub off on the session. The people are very concerned about foreign relations and high spending."

Mansfield announced that the senate would get down to business Monday, taking up a bill designed to ease the tax impact of a court order directing DuPont to dispose of its stock in General Motors.

Kennedy Concedes 'Some Disruptions'

The President conceded in his State of the Union message that the call-up of 155,000 reservists and National Guards last fall caused "some disruptions and distress."

But he added: "The overwhelming majority bore their burdens—and their nation's burdens—with admirable and traditional devotion."

He referred briefly to many other steps taken to increase military strength, including his order for two more Army combat divisions, the reactivation of more than 70 naval vessels and an increase of nearly a dozen wings in the tactical air forces.

JFK's Plea—New Powers In Red Economic Battle

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked congress yesterday for new economic weapons, including power to cut tariffs now and lower personal income taxes in a recession, to help strengthen America in the struggle against communism.

In his State of the Union message, the President said an armistice in the cold war seems "a long way off."

He therefore proposed an array of economic, defense and foreign policy measures keyed to the theory that prosperity must be maintained at home to successfully counter the communist economic and military threat abroad.

"Our nation is commissioned by history to be an observer of freedom's failure or the cause of its success," he said. "Our overriding obligation in the months ahead is to fulfill the world's hope by fulfilling our own faith."

Among his major domestic proposals was a request for presidential standby authority, subject to congressional veto, to lower personal income taxes within a specified range and time. The aim, he said, would be to "slow down an economic decline before it has dragged us down."

ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Kennedy said he was asking for such authority now, even though the country has bounced back from the recession and now is on "the high road to recovery," because "the time to repair the roof is when the sun is shining."

He sought authority to eliminate some tariffs and cut others as much as 50 per cent so the United States can compete with the European common market.

"Members of congress," he advised his listeners, "the United States did not rise to greatness by waiting for others to lead."

OPPOSITION VOICED

Republican congressmen immediately assailed the tax-cut plan. Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen said it "appears as a request for congress to surrender its authority in this field and would seem to be a movement in the direction of centralized executive power."

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) considered the request unconstitutional and predicted congress would not approve. Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.), senior GOP member of the senate finance committee, said he would oppose the request.

Democrats, led by senate leader Mike Mansfield, praised the message. Mansfield said it had "The authentic earmark of greatness . . . plots rational leadership for the advance of freedom and peace in the world."

APPLAUSE FOR JACQUELINE

The house was packed as the President delivered his frequently applauded message on a bitterly cold Washington day. Watching from the galleries was his wife Jacqueline, who received two rounds of applause when she entered.

Despite its sober tone, Kennedy's message was somewhat less bleak than the one he delivered a year ago shortly after taking office. He warned then that the news would get worse before it would get better.
